

Normanby Primary School

Friday 15th April 2016

Painted Playgrounds!

During the Easter holidays, the playgrounds were repainted. This will hopefully make playtime and lunchtime more enjoyable with lots of fun games!

While we were having our Easter break, contractors were hard at work repainting the playful playgrounds. The features are now more bright and vibrant which makes it more exciting at lunch and break for the children when they are playing. Before, the lines were very dull but, now that they are more interesting, the children can play lots more games.

" I like it because I can see it better and it is not as faded, " explained William Appleton, who is a pupil in Y3

" I like it because it is colourful and I play tig with my friends," explained Paige Parnell, who is another pupil in Y3

Clearly, the pupils of Normanby Primary School are really enjoying the fun games on the playground. However, the pupils are now wanting some nice weather because the April showers are coming down too heavy!

